Modesto, CA -- John Kanno, Republican candidate for the 18th Congressional District, announced today that his campaign has received a high level Republican endorsement. State Senator Tom McClintock (R-Thousand Oaks) the GOP nominee for Lt. Governor has endorsed Kanno's effort to unseat Dennis Cardoza this fall.

"As a legal immigrant to this country John is the ideal candidate to take the fight against illegal immigration to Washington. We can count on John Kanno to bring conservative values back to the 18th District," said McClintock.

"Senator McClintock is one of the most respected men in California politics today; it is an honor to have his support. My campaign continues to gain momentum, and I look forward to an exciting race this fall culminating in a hard earned victory this November", said Kanno.

Senator McClintock has been the conservative voice of the Republican Party in California for many years. Through his bid for Governor during the California Recall, McClintock's message of fiscal and social conservatism has resonated through out the state.
